The gospel from Mark tells us that, after having spent the morning teaching in the synagogue, Jesus goes to Peter’s house, where he heals Peter’s ailing mother-in-law and dispels her fever. The heart of Jesus goes out to the suffering and he is unwilling to turn anyone away who is in need of his help. Everyone is looking to him for an answer to their problems and uncertainties. As he moves through the crowds Jesus brings consolation and hope. By identifying with the sick and afflicted Jesus is clearly indicating that suffering is part of God’s mysterious plan. Afterwards Jesus slips off in search of a quiet place where he can be alone and in silent prayer with his Father. Jesus is modeling what he may want of us – caring for the sick, time for people, moments for prayerful reflection.

When Life is Hard, Is God Punishing You?

Have you ever found yourself in a situation where everything seems to be going wrong and you start wondering, “What have I done to deserve this?” In today’s first reading, we are presented with Job; a man who is experiencing desolation. Listen to his cynical attitude towards life: “Remember that my life is a breath; my eye will never see good again (Job 7:7). Later in the chapter Job asks God, “If I sin, what do I do to you...Why have you made me your target? Why have I become a burden to you?”

Misunderstanding Our Relationship with God

When we find ourselves in desolate times we often make two mistaken assumptions.. First, God is punishing us. Unlike in Eastern religions, “karma” – that an intent or action will necessitate a deserved reaction – is not a principle in Christianity. In other words, God does not punish or reward us based on past actions. Second, God weighs our good and bad deeds against one another. This is central in Islam. The Quran states that, “On the Day [Day of Judgement] people will come forward in separate groups to show their deeds; whoever has done an atom’s weight of good will see it, but whoever has done an atom’s weight of evil will see it” (Surah 99:6-8). In other words, our good and evil deeds will be placed before us on our Day of Judgement and God will punish or reward us accordingly. Jesus never taught this!

Amazing Grace!

God is not interested in punishing us. God offers us grace – the underserved gift of salvation- and the opportunity to co-operate with it. If God weighed our good deeds against our bad deeds there would be no need for repentance because God has already made up his mind based on our deeds. For example, a person like John Newton, slave trader and writer of “Amazing Grace,” would be condemned to hell. Yet, because he repented and accepted God’s grace Newton played a pivotal role in abolishing the North Atlantic slave trade. Does he deserve hell?

The Love of a Father

Just because God allows you to experience desolation it doesn’t mean he doesn’t love you. My two month old daughter often feels gas pains. She doesn’t understand why she’s feeling the pain. All she can do is kick, scream, and cry. My wife or I will pick her up and hold her close to our bodies why rubbing her belly until the pain passes. We feel sad for her, wishing we could take on her pain. There isn’t always a reason for desolation, one that we can understand at least; it’s just part of the growing pangs of our spiritual life. Just know that Jesus is not punishing you, but is holding you close to his heart as you kick and scream.
