Welcome to the Table

We warmly welcome the families and the children who are receiving their First Communion this weekend. What a joy for them to participate fully in the sacrificial offering of Jesus as we gather round the Lord’s Table, consuming for the first time what they help to consecrate as the Mystical Body of Christ. The children also come to more fully realize their sacrificial identity as we place ourselves and our broken hearts with Jesus on the altar as an offering to God.

The Eucharist is a mystery indeed, the source and summit of the Christian life. Simple enough for a child to comprehend yet the most brilliant minds can never plumb its depths. At its heart, it is an exchange of gifts, an offering of bread and wine to God in thanksgiving for God’s providence and in reparation for sin.

They say a picture or in this case, a gift says a thousand words and the works of our hands embody our heartfelt desire to be one with God just as the grains of wheat become one in the bread and the grapes become one in the wine.

Our gifts and our own bodies are offered up to God by the priest and by us, the Mystical Body in union with Jesus whose Holy Spirit acts through the person of the priest and the community in consecrating the bread, wine, and us into Jesus’ Body and Blood. The separate consecrations of the bread and wine represent our entry into Christ’s death as his blood was separated from his body on the cross. Since we are united to Jesus in the consecration, we too die with him on the altar seeking new life.

We receive this new life from God as he accepts our transformed gifts and returns them to us for our nourishment and sanctification. Renewed by these gifts we experience Christ’s Resurrection as we rise from our knees after singing the Great Amen and participate in the Communion Rite. We are then sent to be Christs’ Body and Blood to all we encounter as we leave the church and return to the world continuing Christ’s mission.

Our participation in the Mass is a continuation of the liturgy commenced by Jesus at the Last Supper and continues until Christ comes again on the last day. What a blessing it is to think that we are participating in the same liturgy commenced by Jesus more than 2000 years ago.

Let us rejoice as we gather with the First Communicants around the table with the entire community and with our brothers and sisters who have gone before us, with Our Blessed Mother and the angels and the saints as we exchange these sacred gifts with God. For this is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad. John Humphries

The phrase, ‘a doubting Thomas’ is part of our everyday language but although we may judge him harshly, by getting the proof he sought, Thomas has done us all a favour. The faith asked of him was more demanding then the faith of those who had actually encountered the Risen Lord. Thomas stands for all those who have not seen the Lord yet are called to believe in him on the witnesses of others. This gospel builds a bridge between those disciples who were present on Easter evening and saw Jesus and those like ourselves who have not seen him. While we have no physical presence of Jesus, nevertheless our understanding of him is kept alive, linked through time and a great chain of faith that goes back to the apostles who were commissioned to share their faith with others.

Favour with God does not come through seeing, but in trusting the words of the apostles.
