LUKE 18:1-8

Prayer has enormous power but to experience that power we must develop the strength of character to deal with disappointments and not expect immediate results. Like the perseverance of the widow in today’s gospel, who was wronged, robbed of her rights and ignored, she proves herself to be more than a match for the ruthless judge who ultimately feels no option but to grant her request. Jesus holds her up as an example of how we should storm heaven until our prayers are answered and while God does not answer every prayer precisely as we would wish, he does answer persistent pray in a way that is advantageous to us. Prayer is being in touch with God. A daily habit of prayer is a way of showing God that we are serious about our relationship with him.

Prayer is the oil that keeps the lamp of faith burning brightly, drawing us closer to God and enabling us to produce good works.

A Consistent Ethic of Life

Cardinal Joseph Bernardin coined the term “consistent life ethic” to express the belief that all human life was sacred. He served as the head of the Archdiocese of Chicago from 1982 until his death in 1996. Cardinal Bernardin’s understanding of a consistent life ethic includes all life issues from the beginning of life to its end – from womb to tomb. It links together the many issues of life and challenges us to pull together things that we might have kept apart in the past. This linkage of all life issues is the very heart of the consistent ethic of life. It rules out contradictory moral positions about the unique value of human life. For example it would be contradictory to be against abortion and to be for capital punishment. Often our convictions seem to cluster around “conservative” or “liberal” viewpoints - . But the consistent ethic of life cuts across such divisions, calling us to respect the life in the womb, the life of a criminal, the life on welfare, the life of the dying. If we are consistent we must speak out not only about abortion and euthanasia but also concerning welfare and immigration, sexism and racism, healthcare reform, sweatshops, the buying and selling of women for prostitution, genocide and many other issues. Such a quality of life stance translates into specific political and economic positions on tax policies, employment generation, welfare policy, and health care.

The above was summarized from Catholic Update: “A Consistent Life Ethic”

The Archdiocese has prepared an Election Guide: For Heaven’s Sake, Your Guide to Catholic Social Teaching and the Federal Election. It states “Our actions matter, and so does our vote, because it can turn our country’s government towards greater justice. Our vote can lead to greater economic security and opportunity, or marginalization and hopelessness for the peoples of Canada and for our brothers and sisters around the world. The fundamental message of the Gospels and the Catholic Teaching is this: We are responsible for one another, especially for the most vulnerable and the poor. The Catholic Social Teaching of a Preferential Option for the Poor calls us to look at issues not only from the perspective of how they affect us but also how they affect the poorest among us, and vote accordingly.

The Guide asks us to reflect on a number of issues: Human Dignity (From the Beginning of Life to the End of Life), Poverty (Income Insecurity and Precarious Employment; Homelessness (Housing for Individuals and Families); Health Care; Indigenous Issues; Newcomers (Immigrants, Migrants and Refugees) and the Environment. All these issues are part of a consistent life ethic that will have an impact on creating the type of just society we hope to build.
